Crank charged that a vote for Mrs. Johnson was a vote for Rockefeller. He said the GOP was attempting to influence 100,000 votes for Mrs. Johnson. Rockefeller called this "a flat lie" and she didn't care which one he opposed.

Files also had to wait one week to be certain he was the man to oppose Alexander, who held the top spot by a 21,000-vote margin. Files beat Dr. Ralph R. Hatton of Paragould by 114 votes to win the runoff position.

Files, like Alexander an attorney, claimed that his foe was motivated, financed and owned by the machine.

Alexander ignored the charge. He led the ticket in nine of the 15 counties in the East Arkansas District.

Eight persons sought the nomination in the primary after Rep. E. C. "Took" Catlings, D-Ark., announced he was retiring after 30 years in the Congress.

Wells was a clear-cut leader in the first primary for lieutenant governor, polling 150,000 votes compared to 77,000 for Coffelt.

Coffelt has claimed that he is the better qualified of the two to lead an attack on the GOP in November that would produce a Democratic victory.

Two of the legislative races will produce House members since the Democrats are unopposed in November.

Those match Wayne N. Courtney and Bob Nimocks, both of Forrest City, for Position 2 in District 27 (St. Francis County) and Boyce Alford and Odie Clark, both of Pine Bluff, for Position 2 in District 33 (Jefferson and Grant counties).

Facing GOP opposition will be the winners of races between Dave Kane and Bob Dawson, both of Little Rock, for Position 10 in District 22 (Pulaski and Perry counties); Dr. Bert O. Miller and John I. Purdie, both of Little Rock, for Position 11 in District 22; and Carl Fowler of Friendship and James R. Teague of Benton for Position 3 in District 32 (Hot Spring and Saline counties).

Richard A. Wells and Mahlon G. Gibson, both of Fayetteville, face each other in the prosecutor's race in the 4th Judicial District, which is Washington County.

Witness Not Happy in Plush Cell

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Charles Quilman Stephens has an air-conditioned private room, three meals a day, a television, radio and telephone and plenty of newspapers, books and magazines to read.

But the 57-year-old World War II veteran says he is unhappy. So unhappy, in fact, that he has fired his public defender and hired two private lawyers in an attempt to gain his release from the Shelby County penal farm.

Stephens was not sent to the penal farm because he committed a crime. He is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond as a material witness in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Harvey L. Gibson and Jay Fred Friedman, Stephens' new attorneys, consider themselves bound to silence under a court order issued by Judge Preston Battle, the judge who will preside in the trial of James Earl Ray. Ray is charged with murder in King's slaying.

But a source close to Stephens said Stephens is determined to get, if not complete freedom, "at least some of the amenities other free American citizens are guaranteed by the Constitution."

The district attorney general's office said Stephens was placed in protective custody to insure his safety and to assure his presence when needed to testify.

Stephens was a resident of the rooming house where police say the sniper fired the bullet that killed King April 4. He has told officers he saw a man fleeing the scene.

New Trial for Wife Slayer Is Refused

MARION, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge Charles Light has refused to grant a petition for retrial submitted by David Eugene Hamrick, who was convicted in 1967 of slaying his estranged wife.

Hamrick was given a life sentence for the shooting of Mrs. Rhoda Jane Hamrick at the Crittenden County Jail at Marion. Mrs. Hamrick's brother-in-law is a deputy sheriff and his family lived in an apartment adjacent to the jail.

The 10 allegations contained in the petition were rejected by Light. Hamrick contended, among other things, that Circuit Judge John Mosby, who pre-

Conference of Reds Ends in Agreement

KARLOVY VARY, Czechoslovakia (AP) — East German Communist party chief Walter Ulbricht's meeting with Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders ended Monday night with an expression of broad agreement on economic cooperation but little other indication of rapprochement.

Crowds at the west Bohemian spa of Karlovy Vary neither booed nor cheered East Germany's Stalinist leader but showed him an enthusiastic display of support for their Communist party chief, Alexander Dubcek, who started the nation's liberalization drive. Ulbricht was one of the leaders of the attempt within the Soviet bloc to reverse Czechoslovakia's new course, and he was booed at the Bratislava conference casting of ballots in both party primaries. The county committee also said that any person who voted in the Republican primary July 30 and attempts to vote today in the Democratic primary would be challenged.

Some 933,000 persons have visited Millwood Lake this year and to date nine persons have drowned on the lake.

Attempt to Assassinate Greek Premier

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — An attempt was made today to assassinate strongman Premier George Papadopoulos, the government announced.

A spokesman said a home-made bomb blew up on a road just before the premier's car passed. Papadopoulos was unhurt and a man was arrested.

El Dorado Club Closed for Repairs

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — The El Dorado Boys Club, which was closed last week after Negroes picketed the facility, will remain closed temporarily.

The Board of Directors of the club said Monday it would remain closed for "much-needed repairs."

"Upon completion of the repairs the club will be reopened again under conditions to be announced at a later date," said Bob Sweeney, president of the board.

About 25 Negroes attempted to gain admittance last week to a public swimming pool leased by the Boys Club. The pool was closed. The Negroes picketed the Boys Club two days later.

The board of directors, at a June meeting, voted 14-7 in favor of keeping the club and pool segregated.

Finds Some Voted in Two Primaries

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Prosecutor Walter Wright of Hot Springs said Monday his office had been informed that several Garland County residents voted July 30 in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Wright made the statement shortly after the Garland County Democratic Central Committee announced it had learned from public records that 50 residents of the county had illegally voted in both primaries.

Wright said his office "is undertaking an investigation of the complaint with a view of filing an information or referring the matter to the Garland County Grand Jury."

A fine of $1,000 to $5,000 and a prison term of one to five years is the penalty for being convicted of violating the state election law which prohibits the Curtis Ingram Jr., 18, of Little Rock, a Negro prisoner at the penal farm, died Aug. 2 after being struck on the head. Bruce McCortley, 34, a white trusty, was charged last week with manslaughter in the death of Ingram.

In another development, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller issued a prepared statement calling for a review of the operation, facilities and management of the penal farm.

He suggested that prosecuting authorities in the county look into the problem and said Col. Ralph Scott, director of the State Police, would aid in an investigation if asked. He also said members of the U.S. Justice Department could aid in the investigation of individual complaints.

The governor said a review of the procedures at the farm is imperative.

Meanwhile, 13 Negroes filed a petition in U.S. District Court asking for an injunction to block the jury's investigation.

Judge J. Smith Henley is to conduct a hearing today at Harrison on the petition which alleges that the makeup of the jury discriminates against Negroes, qualified persons between the ages of 21 and 50 and the working class.

Dr. Jerry D. Jewell, a Negro, filed the petition which said that there was only one Negro among the 16 persons on the grand jury. It also charged that almost all the persons were management personnel and nearly all are more than 50 years old.

The petition also said the eight alternates to the grand jury are white.

"There has never been more than one Negro on any one of all preceding Pulaski County Grand Juries," the petition said. The petition also pointed to the racial problems and said, "Intimately involved in the causes and development of such incidents have been issues of race, age and employment."

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard and the U.S. Navy have "practically eliminated" the movement of enemy supplies and men by sea into South Vietnam, the chairman of the Coast Guard subcommittee of the U.S. House of Representatives reported today.

Clark said Operation Market Time, the joint Navy-Coast Guard surveillance of the South Vietnamese coast, has gradually increased in efficiency and strength since it started in July 1965.

Big Gun Hunt Is on in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The big gun hunt is on. Police acting under a new law expect to locate 400,000—enough to arm more than half the people of San Francisco.

An ordinance takes effect Friday requiring the registration of all pistols, rifles and shotguns before Oct. 1.

Pressed by Mayor Joseph Alioto after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles June 5, the Board of Supervisors approved the law July 1 by a 7-3 vote.

Its constitutionality was challenged last week by an association of gun clubs. Superior Court Judge Andrew J. Eymann ruled there was no conflict with the federal or state constitution.

Law enforcement officials, the military and people in legitimate firearms sales are exempt from the registration. The fee for others is $1 per weapon. Gun owners don't have to carry their weapons when they register them at any police or fire station.

Any sale, gift or transfer of a weapon must be reported to police. The maximum penalty for violation is six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Before he called for the law, Alioto urged San Franciscans to turn in their weapons voluntarily. Two thousand weapons were turned in, without a question asked.

evant to the reality of 1968."

"The presence of large numbers of visitors amidst the summer tensions of Chicago," McCarthy said to his supporters, "may well add to the possibility of unintended violence or disorder."

The Democratic presidential contender said Nixon, after urging greater military effort in the Vietnam war, now "tells us he will settle it without saying how."

A McCarthy aide, Norval Reece, meanwhile predicted the (Minnesota) 58ator will spend about $4 million in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Sen. George S. McGovern launched a concerted two-week campaign Monday for the Democratic nomination, calling for an end to the draft system and cuts in spending to the military-industrial complex.

McGovern said the draft should be replaced with a voluntary system that pays well enough to draw adequate numbers of servicemen.

The South Dakota senator said he hopes to line up 200 to 250 delegate votes on the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention starting Aug. 26 in Chicago.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, easing previous wording, said Monday that "restraint and reasonable response" by Hanoi should be the price for a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

He said his previous use of the word "reciprocity" as the price had been "misinterpreted as a harsh and rigid word. This certainly was not my intent."

The vice president explained his position in a letter to the National Committee for a Political Settlement in Vietnam, whose eight-point program he had endorsed except for its call for a unilateral halt to the U.S. bombing.

In other political developments:

Arkansas Democrats cast ballots in a runoff today to decide whether Mrs. Virginia Johnson or veteran state Rep. Marion H. Crank will run against incumbent Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

A Democratic Platform Committee fight over a Vietnam plank began taking shape when Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., a committee member, proposed a call for a bombing halt in the North and elections open to all in the South.

Former White House press secretary Bill Moyers, just back from a Paris trip, says U.S. Smith, who laid the blame for Ambassador Sargent Shriver the incidents on "segregated, unsanitary and brutal" conditions at the penal farm hinted intend to encourage anyone to Monday that the trouble may promote him for the office, not be over.

"I don't think the black community will allow the situation to remain the same," he told a news conference. "I would approve of a demonstration to protest conditions, although I don't endorse a violent one."

He said the black community had decided to force a change in the conditions at the penal farm.

About 70 persons were arrested during the three nights of disturbances and about 30 attempts were made to firebomb business establishments. Only about six of the devices touched off blazes.

Authorities said one National Guardsman was shot in the foot by a Negro, a policeman suffered a broken collarbone when struck by a brick thrown by a Negro, one Negro youth was wounded by a policeman's bullet and one white citizen was wounded by a shotgun blast fired from a car carrying Negroes.

Rain Blankets Most of Arkansas
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thundershowers that blanketed most of Arkansas early today are expected to dissipate by tonight into widely scattered thundershowers.

A weak cold front is expected to dissolve by this afternoon and a low pressure system is expected to move northeasterly out of the state.

Some precipitation was reported by most stations, but heaviest hit was Warren, where 1.43 inches of rain fell in less than 30 minutes. A total of 2.90 inches fell there in the 24-hour period ending at 7:30 a.m. today.

Low temperatures reported around the state this morning ranged from 63 degrees at Fayetteville to 76 at Texarkana. Highs Monday ranged from 76 at Fayetteville to 90 at Texarkana.

Here's the expert.

She's your telephone service representative. To many telephone users, she is the phone company. She answers questions, provides personal number booklets, directories and duplicate bills. She helps you get new phones installed. As a service representative, she has to be something of a lady executive, a bit of a diplomat and an expert in phone service. And she is. She was hired from a select group of applicants and put through an extensive training program. And she attends regular meetings to discuss customer service. Eisenhower Continues to Improve WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition has improved to the point where doctors have topped issuing regular medical bulletins.

Doctors said Eisenhower passed the critical period Monday from his sixth heart attack. But officials at Walter Reed Army Hospital said his "convalescence is apt to be prolonged because of the general's previous attacks."

Eisenhower was a few days away from leaving the hospital when he was stricken with what doctors termed a major attack last Tuesday.

Walter Reed officials said the five-star general no longer needs oxygen, although he is still confined to bed and visitors are limited to his immediate family.

"Fit the Crime?"

"To make the punishment fit the crime" may have been enough of a goal, a century ago, for the comic opera team of Gilbert and Sullivan.

But not for modern criminologists. Today's goal, as the United States Supreme Court put it, is to make the punishment "fit the offender and not merely the crime."

Consider two robbers. One is a veteran safe cracker, wise in the ways of the underworld. The other is a teenage purse snatcher, nervously trying to be tough.

Both offenders are guilty of the same crime: robbery. Yet there are obvious reasons for not treating them alike. They are different not only in the degree of their evil but also in the chance of saving them from a life of crime.

When the time comes to pronounce sentence, the judge naturally wants to take such differences into account. But he may not have any leeway. Very often a single, standard penalty is prescribed in advance by the legislature.

What happens then? There are three possibilities:

1) The judge may be forced to impose a sentence that he feels is unwise; or
2) he may get around the law—maybe by arbitrarily reducing the charge, maybe even by finding the offender not guilty at all.

In either case, as the unhappy result of a "prefabricated" sentence, justice is not done.

The problem was highlighted recently in a special report on sentencing by an advisory committee of the American Bar Association.

The committee's report, part of a massive ABA study of criminal justice, urged a speedy end to too-rigid penalties frozen into law.

True, it is up to the legislature—as spokesman for the public—to set our basic standards for the punishment of wrongdoing.

But when it comes to applying those standards in a particular case, the committee said the judge should have plenty of options. He, after all, has to deal with an individual human being. Who better than the judge can make the punishment fit the man?

Eight Priests Are Suspended

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Raul Cardinal Silva has suspended eight priests until they come to him and repent for leading demonstrators who occupied Santiago's cathedral to protest that the Church neglects the poor.

About 200 young Roman Catholic laymen, mostly university coeds and bearded youths, held the cathedral for 14 hours, barred the congregation from Mass Sunday and held their own "rebel Mass" with guitar music and folk singing.

LBJ Combines Work With Relaxation

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is combining work with relaxation as he awaits expert evaluation of X rays of his ailing intestinal tract.

The medical findings presumably will determine whether Johnson must undergo surgery for the third time in four years—a possibility the Texas White House has refused to rule out.

Johnson made his third visit in a week Monday to Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio, where X rays of the lower intestine were made so doctors could assess the extent of his ailment called diverticulosis.

Normally not a serious or disabling condition, diverticulosis produces pouches on the inner lining of the intestine. Should these become inflamed, surgery might be required.

The White House made a point, however, of saying "the President is feeling fine. He is carrying on an active schedule."

The X rays were flown to the Bethesda, Md., Naval Medical Center and to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. There they were being compared with X rays taken in previous years.

This was being done at Bethesda by Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, the President's personal physician, and at Rochester by Dr. James M. Cain, an internist who frequently has treated Johnson since his 1955 heart attack.

There was no indication when the results of this study would be announced.

At his ranch home, some 65 miles west of here, Johnson had ample paperwork to deal with: consideration of bills passed before the month-long congressional recess, reports on all aspects of the nation's affairs at home and abroad, and personnel matters.

With all that, Johnson had ample time for relaxing drives around his ranch property. Cain made an unannounced trip to San Antonio last week, apparently at White House request, to look over some of the results of medical checkups given both the President and Mrs. Johnson.

Apart from the matter of diverticulosis, these were said to have been "well within normal limits."

Smaller Cars Predicted for Future

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
U.S. automobile manufacturers are reported to be moving into an era of smaller cars.

Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. of the American Motors Corp. said in Washington Monday that his firm is prepared to challenge foreign car makers for the affections of America's economy-minded drivers.

The New York Times said in a story from Detroit today that the auto industry is preparing a new class of cars—smaller and cheaper than any built in this country now but still bigger than the tiny imports.

The Times said the first of these new cars is set for production by the Ford Motor Co. as a 1970 model and will go on sale in eight months. Others are in the design or tooling stage, it said.

For Detroit, the Times said these cars represent a major effort by the industry to combat an invasion of foreign products built by low-paid German and Japanese workers.

Other car makers are working to catch up with Ford, the story said, adding in part: The General Motors Corp. is working on a car closer in size to the tiny European imports. The Chrysler Corp. is not now planning to build a smaller, cheaper car.

In Washington, Chapin told newsmen at a dinner meeting and preview of his firm's new models Monday that American Motors is developing a new car, "Not necessarily conventional in terms of today's accepted automotive configurations."

Chapin declined to expand the statement, but he had said earlier: "I believe that the 900,000 foreign car sales this year will be a high-water mark, and one of the reasons is that we at American Motors are turning more of our efforts toward the growing segment of the U.S. market to which the imports appeal."

Ghost's Ghost Believes in 'em

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — It is only fitting, after all, that the star of a new television series called The Ghost and Mrs. Muir believes in ghosts.

Edward Mulhare is the believer. He's playing the ghost, opposite Hope Lange's Mrs. Muir, on NBC's new entrant. And, although he's never seen a ghost, he thinks they're for real.

"I believe," he says, "that there is a lot that we don't understand. Ghosts may not necessarily be human in form—perhaps it is just some kind of left-over emotion—but I do believe that there is something there."

Mulhare, the tall, handsome, supereasy Irishman, may not have ever seen a specter, but he has seen something he can't explain. It happened during World War II, when he was stationed in Northern Ireland, in a very old, spooky house.

"There had been a seance there," he says, "and for days afterwards there was something abroad in that house. There was furniture that moved around, unexplained rappings, that sort of thing. We all turned ice cold, for no earthly reason."

As for the series, Mulhare is playing his ghost benevolently—"gruffly benevolent," he says. He's excited about the series. He hadn't done a film for two years "because I'd gotten in a bad rut, playing heavies that had no dimension to them."

"This gives me a chance to be romantic for the first time in an American film," he says. "And I feel that there is a romantic side to me."

Candidates in Last Plea for Votes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman and Mrs. Virginia Johnson went on statewide television Monday night in a last-ditch effort to sway the voters in today's Democratic gubernatorial runoff.

Crank continued his attacks on the administration of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and discussed the recent racial disturbances in Little Rock.

Mrs. Johnson continued her attempts to link Crank with special interest groups and "the establishment."

Crank said the state "has been floundering in administrative chaos and fiscal irresponsibility" since Rockefeller took office about 20 months ago. He said the intentions of the GOP were good, "but the ability was lacking."

Crank said he was glad the racial problems in Little Rock had been "relatively minor."

"We must never let the voices and actions of a few—no matter what race or creed they may be—blind us to our responsibilities," he said. "I have not campaigned one way in the black community and another way in the white community as some are presently doing. I think it is an insult to both races."

"I don't court you in November and forget you in December, as has been done in the past. I have made by position plain to everyone."

Mrs. Johnson said the normal progress of the state would be "slowed down for a generation" if Crank were elected.

She said Crank was a man "of good will, and good intent, but one who bears the yoke of his ruthless sponsors, who at all times and at all costs, are likely to demand their pound of flesh."

Mrs. Johnson said she does not want a career in politics and that this is an asset.

She also denied the contention of some that her husband, Jim, would run the show from behind the scenes. Mrs. Johnson admitted she would consult her husband on legal matters.

"In matters of administration, I have some most competent advisors on the economic factors of the state, governmental functions and administrative procedures," she said. "They will advise me, and I shall make the decisions."

Peking Described as Dull City

HONG KONG (AP) — Peking is a dull city for a Westerner with virtually no entertainment, says a young British woman who has been living there.

"There are no theaters, no cinemas, only revolutionary concerts filled with much propaganda and little entertainment," said Mrs. R. A. Webb.

Mrs. Webb's husband was a clerical officer in Britain's diplomatic mission in the Red Chinese capital. They crossed into Hong Kong Monday with two other embassy employees whose transfer home had been delayed several months by the Chinese without explanation.

To which most girls would agree.

The Virginian has a new sidekick this year and he's a big one. David Hartman is 6 feet 5 and he's tall even out of the saddle.

The Virginian's gain is American industry's loss. Hartman, after attending Duke University and doing his time in service, was faced with a big decision. He had offers from 32 major companies—including IBM and Kaiser and people like that—or he could have gone into professional baseball—he was a slugging first baseman—or he might prefer acting.

He took two weeks to mull things over. And, he says, he came to the conclusion that he might as well do what he really wanted to do—give show business a whirl.

"One thing that influenced me," he says, "was my father's experience. He had been a Methodist minister for 14 years when he left to do what he really wanted—go into business. And he was very successful at it."

Hartman grew up in Pelham, a fashionable New York suburb. He acted and sang and danced in off-Broadway musicals, then was in "Hello, Dolly!" and "The Yearling" on Broadway. Universal signed him and brought him west last year, and he's been in several features and television shows for that studio.

He hopes The Virginian will gain him recognition, so that he can go back to doing what he loves best—musicals. But he's so determined to make good on the western that he's even taking roping lessons, and very few actors are that dedicated.

Anybody who collects old guns might consider following Diana Darrin's example. She has some 50 old firearms around, and, in the wake of Sen. Robert Kennedy's murder, many of her friends urged her to turn them in to the police.

But she refused. She treasures her collection, which includes a pistol that belonged to Jesse James.

Instead, she found a ballistics expert who removed all the firing pins and filled the barrels with lead.

Television and Radio

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Characters change, faces change and fashions change, but in one form or another, there are always a lot of cops-and-robbers series in television.

The giant wheel of television, which rolls slowly, seems now to have come full circle. The old-fashioned private eye who solved a case a week and usually got beaten up a couple of times an episode is returning.

TV old-timers will remember the early Philip Marlowes, Michael Shaynes, Richard Diamonds and Mike Hammers. After going through a period of tongue-in-cheek superagents like the men from U.N.C.L.E. and campy crime-fighters like millionaire Bruce Wayne, this season television is getting back to the old model with shows like "The Outsider."

"The heroes can be lawyers, district attorneys, ranch foremen, avengers, private investigators or whatever," said Darren McGavin, the actor in the title role of the new NBC series, "but they all function as cops."

McGavin, as a matter of fact, played one of those earlier characters—Mike Hammer—for a while. This time out, he is David Ross, a shabby private eye whose problem of making a skimpy living is complicated by his prison record.

The character—a man with personal problems that shadow his professional life—is typical of Roy Huggins, who dreamed up the series and is its executive producer. Huggins had a hand in "The Fugitive," a fellow trying to solve a murder while himself being pursued, and "Run for Your Life," about a man who cleaned up a different mess each week while a medical death sentence hung over him.

McGavin, who can play tough private eyes with the necessary swagger, is a former student of Sanford Meisner, played in Tyrone Guthrie's all-star stage "Dinner at Eight." Now—with a comfortable headstart on the season's output of "Outsider" episodes—he will fill a short break in its production schedule playing with Greer Garson in a Los Angeles revival of Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion."

Like so many performers McGavin is as interested in directing as he is in acting. "The director really has to

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper. LOVE OR HABIT?

Dear Helen: I have been going steady with this guy for three years and we have talked about marriage when we get out of college, in 1971. I didn't date much before him, as I am now only 18.

He's a great person and I thought I was very much in love with him, but I'm not sure. My parents think he's great too. They'd feel awful if we broke up.

I would too, but I still want a chance to date around. My steady says if I go out with other fellows we're through. Helen, how can I know it's play all the roles," he said. "He's the one who works with all the actors, forming and creating."

"The Outsider" is, among the action series being closely watched for evidence of "excessive violence"—nobody knows exactly what that means but everybody is against it. However, there will be plenty of unavoidable blows struck.

The set where all the action took place was loaded with rifles, handguns and even a machine gun, all rendered harmless, plus some nonlethal hand grenades and empty boxes labeled ammunition.

In spite of the fakery of some items and the lack of firing pins in the weapons, the set was guarded constantly by a uniformed member of the studio police force.

Producer Paul Henning of "Petticoat Junction" said that his plans are to write out Bea Benaderet's part of Kate Bradley for a few episodes. Miss Benaderet, who had undergone treatment for a malignancy last winter, has gone on an extended leave of absence from the series. Henning, however, is hopeful that a period of rest will persuade her that she can return to her pivotal character in the popular CBS series.

love unless I test it against other boys? Should I settle for fondness and respect or try to find out if real love is something more?—AFRAID TO LOSE A GOOD THING.

Dear Afraid: Better to find out now whether or not it's real love, than to wait until after marriage and learn it never was.

If your steady won't stand for a "trial separation," he hasn't much confidence in himself, and life with him might be very dull. My I.G.A.P. tells me you think already is. Take it from there. —H.

Dear Helen: I want to say a word for a class of mothers who are often maligned: Step-mothers.

I am 20 and will be a junior in college this fall. When I was nine, my widowed father married a fine woman. She has been everything a girl could ask. She gave me love, understanding, guidance, counsel and yes, discipline, which I needed. I love and appreciate her, and I tell her so often. I think lots of friction between step-parents and children could be eliminated if both parties would give the other a chance to be themselves. —Please do not use my name. Maybe a lot of step-parents will think this letter is written about them. —LUCKY.

Dear Helen: My friend had a pajama party. I wore my good shorts over and brought my dress for church. I left my shorts and p.j.s at her house in my handbag, and took it home without checking. Next day I couldn't find my shorts, and the next week I saw her wearing them! What should I do? When I asked her if I'd left them there, she said "No." —CONFUSED

Dear Confused: If you are absolutely sure, tell your friend's mother you left some clothes at her house and could you come over and pick them up? But don't expect to remain friends with this shortnaper. —H.

McLain Posts 24th Win for Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP) — "All I want to do is win the pennant," said Dennis McLain, but the Detroit Tiger hurler admitted he had 30 wins on his mind too.

"I've been thinking about 30 since 15," McLain said after posting his 24th victory Monday night—an easy 6-3 win over the Cleveland Indians.

"I think it's natural to think about winning 30 games," said McLain, who should get 11 or 12 more starts before the season ends. "But I'm not losing any sleep over it," he added.

The only member of the Tribe who gave McLain trouble was Tony Horton. He hit two home runs, one of them with a mate board in the ninth.

Detroit catcher Bill Freehan said he didn't think the pitcher lured him "where in places where Denny wanted to throw him."

McLain agreed. "They were perfect pitches. I could have hit them out. They were fast balls right down the middle waist high."

"My fast ball wasn't the best," McLain continued. "I've seen a lot sharper."

"You've got to arise to every situation that comes up in a game," McLain continued. "I've been doing it all year."

"Of course," he added, "there were some great plays behind me, and it doesn't hurt to have a few runs behind you."

The Tigers added three more runs in the top of the ninth to make things easy for McLain. When Horton came through with his second homer, and Manager Mayo Smith made one of his frequent visits to the mound to talk to his pitching ace.

"I was rushing myself in the ninth," said McLain. "Smith came out to get me to slow down."

"Denny had better stuff than I had the last few times out," said Smith.

Asked what McLain was doing differently than he did last season, when he was 17-16, Smith said:

"Concentration, control and a tighter. Concentration is something an individual must do himself."

Whatever he's going, McLain takes it sound easy. "The ugliest thing I've done this season is cut a record album for 'Capitol,'" McLain said. "A Dennis McLain Quintet LP is due for release in mid-September, in time for the World Series," he noted.

Texas League All-Stars Lick Astros

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Shreveport pitcher, Carl Morton ripped a line single to left field in the 12th inning to score another pitcher and give the Texas League All-Stars a wild 8-7 victory over the Houston Astros of the National Baseball League Monday night.

William Bohler, El Paso pitcher, picked up the victory in relief.

George Gerberman, Dallas-Fort Worth pitcher, scored the winning run. He singled, stole second and moved to third on a groundout before the winning blow.

The hit, ironically, came off Luis Penabaz, also a pitcher for Dallas-Fort Worth. Houston pressed him into action when it ran out of available pitchers in the lengthy game.

Manager Harry Walker of Houston asked for and received permission to use Penabaz because the Astros play a doubleheader in Philadelphia Tuesday.

A crowd of 5,088 watched the All-Stars pound 15 hits. The Astros collected 12 hits.

The Texas Leaguers exploded for six runs in the fourth inning only to see a 7-5 lead fade in the ninth inning when Houston rallied to tie it.

Monday's Stars

PITCHING — Camilo Pascual, Senators, scattered five Minnesota hits in blanking his former teammates 2-0.

BATTING — Paul Blair, Orioles, scored the tying run in the ninth inning and drilled a two-run double in the 10th for a 3-1 Baltimore victory over Oakland.

Namath's Shoes Don't Hex Oilers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets was in the Astro dome but his white football shoes failed to hex the Houston Oilers.

Namath, sidelined with a sore knee, watched the Oilers surge from behind to thrash his teammates 28-14 Monday night in an American Football League exhibition game.

Houston's Pete Beathard passed for three touchdowns before a crowd of 40,354 as the Oilers held the Jets to 161 yards total offense.

The victory was the second for the Oilers, who stopped the Washington Redskins of the National Football League last week. It was the first outing for the Jets.

Namath, scheduled to lead the New York club's passing attack, wore a blue blazer and manned a spotter's telephone on the sidelines as Houston gathered 407 yards total offense, 236 yards in the air.

A New York City television sports announcer reported during the game that Namath may have been using his sore left knee as an excuse for not playing. A Jets club source said Namath was holding out for $3,000 pay per exhibition game, Dick Young of WOR-TV reported.

Young said Namath reportedly was promised the money earlier by Sonny Weblin, former Jets owner.

"The way I had it, he had been promised $3,000 by the former Jets owner," Young said. "I don't know how the promise was made."

One of the present owners of the New York team, Phil Isehn, said he knew of no such contract obligation.

Namath said flatly, "I don't know anything about it (the reported agreement). My knee hurts."

The Oilers, meanwhile, ran their total offense to 377 yards, compared to 11 for the Jets through the third quarter.

Beathard capped drives of 52 and 76 yards in the third period with scoring passes of 15 and 66 yards to Charlie Frazier.

Veteran Babe Parilli, working in Namath's place, tossed a 21-yard touchdown pass to Lee White early in the fourth quarter. Parilli had put the Jets out front 7-0 in the first period with a 26-yard toss to George Sauer.

Rookie Jim Beltrone from Purdue caught a pass from Bob Davis to climax a 61-yard Houston drive for a fourth touchdown in the last quarter.

Elsewhere in professional football Monday, veteran end Ron Kramer announced his retirement after 10 years with Detroit and Green Bay of the National League.

Kramer, placed on waivers by the Lions two weeks ago, will join a steel company in Detroit.

The American League San Diego Chargers signed defensive back Jerry Richardson who played last year with the Atlanta Falcons of the NFL.

The Los Angeles Rams of the NFL placed Joe Williams, a kick return specialist from Florida A&M on waivers.

Clemente Is Thinking of Retirement

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roberto Clemente, who kept his injured shoulder a secret while he struggled all through the spring, says he will retire before next season if the shoulder doesn't feel any better.

The 34-year-old Clemente has come on very slowly this season after a poor start and now is batting .279. But if he should finish the year it would mark his worst average since 1957. Last year he hit .357 and won his fourth National League batting championship.

"I'm playing out the season now with the shoulder hurting," Clemente told baseball writer Charley Feeney of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. "But I won't play with it hurting like this next year."

Clemente said he would like to keep playing baseball, but emphasized he didn't "want to play with the shoulder hurting like it is now."

The rightfielder, who won the National League's Most Valuable Player Award in 1966, injured his shoulder in a fall out of the San Juan, Puerto Rico, home in February.

Clemente reportedly tore a muscle in his shoulder when he fell.

He has been examined by doctors in Pittsburgh and says there is no assurance the injury will heal over the winter.

Football Is Expensive to Networks

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the football boom, television in the United States and Canada finds itself in the position of a team that can't gain, yet dare not kick.

"All of us are in trouble—we're hurting," one American television executive says.

Another official of a U.S. network explains:

"None of us are making money on football, but none of us would dare give up our contracts. In fact, we're trying for more. It's a funny business. You blow a Saturday or a Sunday afternoon and you blow an entire audience for the weekend."

"It has never been a big commercial success," says John Mallow director of sales for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

And Murray Cherkover, president of CTV, Canada's other network, says the production cost of football is out of proportion "in relation to the advertising efficiency."

There's no doubt about fan interest in football being at its peak. Sellout crowds are the rule rather than the exception.

So why are the television people worried?

"I'm afraid football TV has reached the saturation point—it's overexposed," says an American network official.

"Sponsors don't come running anymore—you have to chase them and twist their arm."

Another says, "The three major networks (NBC, CBS, ABC) are committed to around $110 million worth of football television this season. They will be lucky to sell three-fourths off."

Satchel Paige Has Chance for Pension

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Satchel Paige, the living legend of professional baseball, has been a pitcher for 40 years — and he's back in the game today.

Paige signed a contract with the Atlanta Braves Monday aimed at providing him with the benefits of baseball's pension plan. He needs 158 days to qualify for the five-year pension, which pays $250 a month at the age of 65.

He will join the Braves' active roster Aug. 23 for the rest of the current season and be retained in some capacity for 1969.

"Satchel is one of the greatest pitchers of all time," said Braves President William Bartholomay, "and baseball would be guilty of negligence should it not assure this legendary figure a place in the pension plan."

Getting to the heart of the matter, Bartholomay added, "more than anything else, it will give many Atlanta fans the chance to see for the first time a living legend."

"I don't know what I can do now," Paige said in a news conference after the signing.

"I'll have to get out there and unfold first. If cold weather comes, I'm dead. My blood's not as thick as it used to be. If it's hot I'll be all right. I'm glad to be here and I'll do my best whatever I'm in."

Paige was denied the chance to pitch in the majors until 1948. Prior to that time he pitched on Negro teams in the minor leagues.

He played for parts of six American League seasons with the Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Browns and Kansas City A's.

"Old Satchel" was past 40 when he arrived in the majors — but he still chalked up a 28-31 record.

His last game in the majors was Sept. 25, 1965, when he pitched three scoreless innings for Kansas City against Boston. His earned run average in the majors is 3.29.

"This is my love, baseball," Paige said. "I'm glad to be back to my love."

Paige's age is thought to be 62, but he does not like to talk about it and says nobody knows for sure "except Uncle Sam who don't play around."

Harpies The mythical Harpies were half-woman and half-bird, with the nightmarish duties of seizing dead souls or of snatching away the food of those accursed of the gods.

AIRBORNE and he doesn't seem worried, either. Take a sleek racing boat, add a 100-horsepower motor, run it as fast as it will go over the wake of another boat and you're likely to take to the air. That's exactly what this driver did at Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Coach Don't Know What His Cards Will Do

By CHARLIE BAROUH Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I wouldn't say what I think this team will do, even if I knew," St. Louis football Cardinal Coach Charley Winner admits, "because I'm no fortune teller."

And it just might take a fortune teller to put all the ifs and what abouts together and come up with an answer.

For instance, what about the Negro-white dissension that revealed such glaring publicity after the 1967 season? Winner and many Cardinal players say the problem was blown out of proportion.

Blown out of proportion or not, the Cardinals institute a player committee and made some changes to solve the problem.

Big Red quarterback Jim Hart says the offseason troubles have knitted the team into a closer unit. Unity probably is one of the keys to any Cardinal hopes of moving up from their third place finish in the National Football League's Century Division last year.

Coach Winner agreed that the problems have been solved. "It's been evident to visitors at our training camp. The attitude and hustle has been splendid. It seems as if they (the press) have picked us out and we can't get anybody to believe we're not at each other's throat."

What about Hart himself? Can the second-year quarterback from Southern Illinois University have the consistent year needed to make full use of some of the best offensive machinery in the Eastern Conference? Winner thinks Hart can.

Hart has an outstanding offensive line, called by Winner "one of the best pass protection lines in the league."

The running and passing game should be well balanced with the likes of speedy tight end Jackie Smith and second-year man Dave Williams. Behind them is the best crop of young receivers.

Winner has been with the Cardinals. Tom Busch of Iowa State and Bob Lee of Minnesota seem to have made the biggest impressions.

The runners are knee deep and fighting for jobs. Johnny Roland is mending nicely from knee surgery. Winner says. He's splitting one running back spot with Roy Shivers, and both are backed up by Charlie Bryant. Willis Crenshaw has a toe hold on the fullback spot, with taxiquader Cid Edwards behind him. Pushing them both are little known Don Fitzgerald of Kent State and first draft choice MacArthur Lane of Utah State.

"If things work out the way we think and hope they will," Winner says, "we will have as good a chance as anybody in our division."

Most of the ifs are in the defense, especially the linebackers. The retirement of middle linebacker Dale Mernert left the Cardinals with only two experienced linebackers—Dave Meggys and Larry Stallings. And they'll be sharing the work at one of the outside linebacking spots.

The Cardinals obtained Ernie Clark from Detroit for the other outside spot and Winner said the veteran "has filled in adequately."

Adequately is a little weak considering the Cardinals problems at middle linebacker.

Inexperienced Mike Stofolno almost has the job by default. His only real opposition is taxi squad man Jaime Rivers.

Just as worrisome is the halfback spot. Veteran Pat Fischer played out his contract and the Cardinals had to obtain Brady Keys as a replacement. His backup is Bobby Williams. On the left side, Phil Spiller, a second-year man, is backed up by Lonnie Sanders, acquired from the Washington Redskins.

Oldtimers of Golf World Prove Skill

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden, the gold dust twins of the 1940s, proved they still have their old-time skill, even in defeat by Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

Palmer and Nicklaus, the top money-winners in golf history, needed some great shots for a one-hole victory Monday in their best-ball match at Dub's Dread — the longest golf course either of the long-hitters has seen. They played it at close to 7,900 yards.

Bobcats Open Grid Practice Wednesday, 40 Are Expected

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

With another summer nearly down in the books, the approach of autumn brings in a new sport season which is known to many as football.

And while most of us are still enjoying the summertime, a select few leave their leisure to-morrow morning for Hammons Stadium and the start of pre-season workouts for the 1968 edition of the Hope Bobcats.

Head Coach Ronnie Higgins is expecting around 40 candidates when the team meets at 8:00 a.m. tomorrow. Coach Higgins also invites anyone who has not signed up already and is interested in playing for the Bobcats to report at that meeting.

Nineteen lettermen return from last year's squad which Malvern, Arkadelphia, Texarkana, Washington, Fairview, and Camden Lincoln, 4-A East Inteen, along with a good crew of freshmen, remember all the pre-

Washington, and Warren. Each school will take in five conference games in the divisional round-robin, as well as three games with teams from the other division.

Standings in the East and West will be determined by all eight games, and the two winners will battle it out at the season's end for the district championship. The defending champs are the darkhorse Fairview Cardinals, who nudged by Malvern 7-6 for the title last year on a double-reverse kickoff return that went 90 yards for the Cards' only score. And this year, both Fairview and Malvern are in the Western Division. So stick around, you sports fans; this thing could get interesting.

Police Pack Up, Abandon Watts Patrol

By DON HARRISON
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police packed up their ammunition and abandoned their Watts command post before dawn today at the end of 24 hours of controversial "saturation" patrolling of the Negro district.

An outbreak of shooting and looting Sunday midnight brought three deaths and 48 injuries, but a police spokesman said the only activity Monday night was an increase in minor fires.

One fire did $35,000 damage to a quilting plant four miles from the disturbance scene in south-central Los Angeles. The fire's origin was undetermined.

Long before sunup, police closed the command post in which Locke High School from which 2,000 officers had been directed on constant patrol.

Rumors of trouble whipped through Watts Monday night but that's what they turned out to be—rumors. There was little more than normal night activity.

All three of the dead Sunday were Negro men. Police said at least two were killed by Negro gunfire, and the third may have been shot by police, who reacted quickly and massively to sniping and looting.

Six of the wounded were policemen. Thirty-six other persons were treated for gun wounds and six for injuries. Two were listed as critical.

There were 35 arrests, 28 of them on felony charges.

The outbreak began with rock throwing, followed by sniper gunfire and looting, when police arrested a drunken woman in Will Rogers Park, scene of the third annual Watts Summer Festival.

The festival ironically commemorated the 1965 riot that cost 34 lives and $40 million property damage.

The area was quickly saturated with 2,000 policemen, who restored quiet before daybreak Monday.

All through the warm Monday and the cool, pleasant night, police maintained their vigil, a Watts remained relatively still.

The night was marked by an occasional trash can fire. Along 103rd Street, dubbed "Charcoal Alley" after the 1965 disorder, knots of youngsters yelled epithets at passing patrol cars, but there was no violence.

Groups of Negroes gathered to watch a small fire in a market.

Rumors of other fires were unconfirmed.

Downtown on Monday afternoon about 85 persons, mostly whites identifying themselves as members of the Peace and Freedom party, paraded outside central police headquarters with signs supporting the militant Black Panther party.

The demonstrators had mimeographed demands that police pull out and "let blacks do their own patrolling and be responsible to a commission elected by the community."

In similar vein, Billy Tidwell, a director of the Watts Summer Festival, called the police mobilization "wholesale unwarranted assault" and accused police of "raiding" the festival headquarters in the park.

He and Tommy Jacquette, another festival leader, said the number of officers in the area should have been reduced immediately.

Police Chief Thomas Reddin told a news conference a "massive response" by police put down the disorder and the area remained "saturated."

"The question of whether we have too many or not is certainly difficult to decide," the chief said.

"We were not the ones who opened fire," he said. "We were not the ones who looted and burned."

In the looting and firebombing, some 22 buildings were damaged, but none more than an estimated $2,000.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset Letters to the Editor

FROM H. L. HUNT

Editor The Star: I lived in Arkansas from 1912 to 1932 but find my opposition to Senator Fulbright in the primary election July 30 is said to be despicable. I have taken great pride in the accomplishments of U.S. Senator John L. McClellan, chairman of Government Operations; Wilbur E. Mills, chairman of the vital Ways and Means Committee; and two other House members who have ADA ratings of "Zero".

My unfavorable opinion of Senator Fulbright is not the result of what someone has said of him, but what he says about himself, of which the following quotes are a sample:

"I do not believe that the Soviets desire to dominate the world." "Communism is only the most recent in the long history of doctrines of human redemption." "Pride in victory, and frustration in restraint, during the Korean War led to Mao-Arthur's revolt and McCarthyism." "As I read history, the Russian experiment in socialism is scarcely more radical, under modern conditions, than the Declaration of Independence was in the days of King George III."

"American interests are better served by supporting nationalism than by opposing communism, and when the two are encountered in close association, it is in our interest to accept a Communist government."

I do not expect to be rewarded nor penalized through the activities of Senator Fulbright, and take no exceptions to his voting record except when it endangers our Republic. Constructively,

6 Korean Reds Are Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SEOUL (AP) — Six more North Koreans were killed today in two clashes with South Korean troops along the central sector of the demilitarized zone, the defense ministry reported.

There were no South Korean casualties, the ministry said.

Some North Koreans survived the clashes and fled back North, leaving behind five submachine guns, three antitank grenades, three knapsacks and other equipment, the report said.

Seaver Says: 'The Minors Have Gone To College'

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Tom Seaver combines what some like to call the "new breed" of major league baseball player with the old.

The New York Mets' All-Star right-handed pitcher is the business-conscious, future-oriented modern-day ball player. He is also a tossback to the days when professional baseball was played because guys just liked the game. (Some couldn't do anything else, either. But that's another story.)

In the off-seasons, the 23-year-old Seaver attends classes at the University of Southern California. He has two semesters to go before earning a bachelor's degree in public relations.

Before a game, Seaver sat bare to the waist in front of his locker. He put his mail aside and talked about Tom Seaver, past, present and future.

"I guess you could call me a new type of baseball player," he said. "I'm certainly not the brawling, rowdy-type notorious in the early days of baseball. But then, I'm part of the entire changing image of athletes in general. Baseball in particular."

"People wonder what happened to the minor leagues. It's really quite simple. The minor leagues have gone to college. And that's where more and more of the major league players are coming from. Well, with more education, it stands to reason that players will be in to have more dimension and wider interests."

Though Seaver is in only his second year in the big leagues, he has a scrutinizing eye on post-baseball playing days. He would like to go in to sportscasting.

Vietnamese Driver Jailed for Sabotage

SAIGON (AP) — Two Vietnamese chauffeurs for the U.S. Military Assistance Command's headquarters in Saigon have been arrested as part of a Viet Cong sabotage and assassination squad, the national police announced today.

The U.S. Military Command confirmed that the two men were dispatch drivers at the motor pool next to the command's Pentagon East headquarters at Tan Son Nhut Airport. Their duties included driving for U.S. officers below the rank of general.

The police presented the sabotage squad of six men and a woman at a news conference and said they had been captured on the outskirts of Saigon at the end of July along with nine Chinese pistols and a quantity of explosives.

Col. Tran Van Hai, the director-general of the national police, said the squad was under orders to assassinate U.S. and Vietnamese officials in Saigon and to blow up installations in the city.

Columbus to Change Phone Listing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Christopher P. Columbus of Memphis, Tenn., is moving to Hawaii, where he declared he will insist on being listed in the telephone directory as merely C.P. Columbus.

Columbus, who has been a procedures officer at a Defense Department supply depot here is taking another government job. And in a new home, he doesn't want more calls from intoxicated jokers.

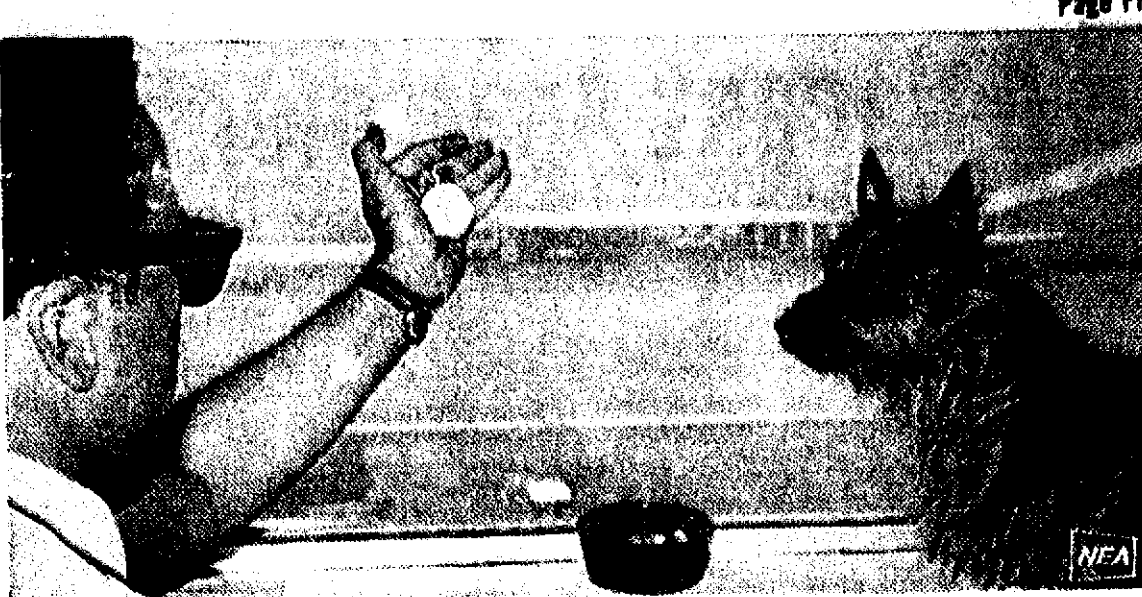

Mrs. Columbus says having a husband named after the man who discovered America is a problem for her.

"A lot of people call and say they don't believe Columbus discovered America," she said. "Some of the callers ask my husband about the three ships."

Columbus said he has trouble traveling.

Once on a Columbus Day, he asked an airline to make reservations for him to Columbus, Ohio.

Asked "his name," he gave it. He was serious about the trip but says he had a tough time convincing the airline.

Chances Dim to Get Food to Biafrans

By C. C. MINICLIER
Associated Press Writer

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Prospects of getting sufficient food and medicine to the starving Biafrans grew dimmer today after the Nigerian government spurned an appeal to stop shooting at Red Cross planes and peace talks in the Ethiopian capital stalled.

"The Nigerian reaction is to shoot at any plane," an international Red Cross spokesman reported after the Lagos government rejected its appeal to quit shooting at mercy flights into blockaded secessionist Biafra.

The Red Cross, which had been flying food and medicine into besieged Biafra since November, suspended flights from the Spanish island of Fernando Po, 100 miles off the Nigerian coast, after a DC6 carrying food was fired on over the weekend.

Fears that arms are being airlifted into Biafra in large quantities are behind the federal government's action, the Red Cross spokesman said, but he added that negotiations were continuing. He denied that any Red Cross flights carried arms and military supplies, although he said he had heard larger quantities of arms are being flown to Biafra since President Charles de Gaulle expressed support for the secession.

Caritas, the Roman Catholic relief organization, also has been flying supplies to Biafra, using chartered planes that fly over Nigeria at night to evade the Nigerian air force. But all the flights have been able to carry only a fraction of the food needed to ward off mass starvation.

The U.S. State Department announced that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is sending a special emissary to Geneva for "urgent consultations" with Red Cross officials on ways to resume the mercy flights. The emissary, C. Robert Moore, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs, is being accompanied by a team of experts on Africa and disaster relief.

U.S. officials in Washington also reported that 200 to 400 persons are dying of starvation each day in Nigeria and Biafra as a result of the civil war. The estimate is based on figures compiled by the U.S. Embassy in Lagos, the Red Cross and voluntary agencies.

Officials estimated about 3 million persons behind the rebel lines in Biafra and about 750,000 persons in territory recaptured by federal Nigerian forces are in urgent need of food. All told, the civil war has affected some 13 million persons in what was formerly the Eastern Region of Nigeria.

The Red Cross went ahead with plans to transport food by ship from Lagos to Calabar, about 400 miles eastward along the southern coast, where an estimated 280,000 refugees are located. Calabar is in federal control.

The German ship, Minna Schupp, was to leave today with 700 tons of food. The Red Cross also is chartering a ship with a 620-ton payload to carry relief supplies to Calabar starting September.

The Nigerian-Biafran peace talks in Addis Ababa started Aug. 5 under the auspices of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), but pessimism deepened today as the chief Nigerian negotiator went back to Lagos and a spokesman said he did not plan to return, "unless there is going to be something that demands his presence."

Both districts have been functioning under freedom-of-choice plans and both have been under pressure from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to increase the amount of integration in their school systems.

coronary arteries. Many doctors also prescribe anticoag-ulants for the first year of the disease.

Q—A little over a year ago
I was visiting neighbors.
When I got back home, my husband was sitting by the television set dead. Apparently he hadn't struggled. Autopsy showed a coronary thrombosis. What caused the clot to form? How quickly did it cause death?

A—Most persons recover from a first heart attack, one that often goes unrecognized or is mistaken for a bout of acute indigestion. When a heart attack does cause death, the end is so sudden that the victim doesn't know what has happened and no treatment can revive him. A clot forms in a coronary artery when the narrowing of the vessel causes a greatly reduced flow of blood through it.

Q—What is the treatment for shortness of breath on mild exertion? I am taking Duotrate and Naqua. How do they help?

A—The usual cause is a leaky heart valve. If the symptom can't be controlled with rest and digitalis, an operation to repair or replace the valve is your best bet.
Duotrate is given to dilate the coronary arteries and Naqua is a water pill.

Most Persons Recover From First Heart Attack

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is hypercholesterolemia? What foods should one avoid if he has this disease? What is Ascriptin?

A—Hypercholesterolemia is an abnormally high level of cholesterol in the blood. It is like the result since East and West would have no trouble making three hearts. They would have found the heart fit if Guiver in North didn't double the one-spade opening and the question was to figure out if they could have done so after the double and the no-trump response.

The result of the discussion is that the team has come up with a new bid. The next time a hand like this comes up East will double the no-trump as a newfangled takeout double.

If this double is played for takeout, how can East double for penalty? The answer is that he could not have the hand for a penalty double because he would have redoubled one spade at his first chance to bid.

Of course, if West holds a really sound opening bid he can convert this takeout double to penalty by passing.
We aren't recommending this bid for general use as yet.
One of the authors of this column still wants to be shown, and is looking forward to seeing how it works out in actual play.

seems to have turned sour.

Hidden Dead of the War in Vietnam

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without the enemy firing a shot, the equivalent of two to three squads of GIs die each week in Vietnam, becoming in effect the hidden dead of the war.

They are the victims of disease or mishap who are lumped toward the end of the casualty reports as simply "dead from nonhostile causes."

Although the rate for Vietnam is lower than in two previous wars, noncombat deaths represent a consistent manpower drain of major cumulative proportions.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, noncombat deaths listed by the Pentagon total at least 4,300—roughly 14 per cent of all American losses in the war.

Military medical men say the noncombat death rate in Vietnam is slightly lower than in World War II or Korea but not enough to boast about.

Because of improved medicines and quicker treatment, U.S. servicemen stricken with disease have a better chance of pulling through in Vietnam than in other wars. But sea and land accidents persist, accounting for large numbers of deaths.

A computerized tabulation made by the Pentagon covering the period Jan. 1, 1961 through May 30, 1968, lists 3,936 "non-hostile" deaths. The total rose to 4,298 as of Aug. 3.

Of the 3,936 deaths checked by computer, 2,229 occurred in aircraft crashes on land and sea, 336 in vehicular accidents, 226 from disease (more than one-fifth from malaria), 128 from heart attack or stroke, 293 from accidental homicide, 779 from various other accidents and the remainder from assorted other causes.

Medical statisticians warning that there are many variables, figure the noncombat fatality rate in Vietnam is 3.5 per thousand men per year.

Compared to 3.7 per thousand per-year in Korea (1950-1952) and 3.9 per thousand per-year in all overseas theaters of World War II (1942-45). However, the nonhostile rate in the European theater in World War II was only 3.6.

"There is nothing dramatic or astonishing in the Vietnam figure," said one official. "At best it is only an indication that things aren't going to pot."

The question of whether a death is to be categorized "hostile" or "nonhostile" usually is clearcut. But it sometimes enters a gray area where interpretations may be required up to the service headquarters level in the Pentagon.

The basic decision—which may be reversed after review by high echelons—is made in Vietnam, sometimes at battalion and division levels. Interpretations may be simple but occasionally are difficult to the point of controversy, and can vary from service to service.

Example: A jeep runs over a U.S. mine. The ruling in one such case was hostile, because officers held that the mine wouldn't have been along that road were it not for the presence of the enemy.

Example: A man wading across a river during a night patrol drowns. The ruling in this case was to reverse an original "hostile" listing to "nonhostile" on grounds the patrol encountered no enemy resistance.

But, in another case, two B52s collided en route before arriving in Vietnam for a bombing strike. The original ruling was "nonhostile," but officials later changed it on grounds that the bombers wouldn't have been flying in such tight formation except during a bombing mission.

Nonhostile labels often are viewed with indignation by servicemen's widows or other close relatives who sometimes complain that if it wasn't for Vietnam and a hostile enemy their loved one wouldn't have been there to die.

Benefits are the same in hostile or nonhostile deaths except that only those killed in action or dying from hostile wounds get the Purple Heart.

Mrs. Johnson Has Campaigned Previously

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Virginia Johnson, the first woman to seek the Arkansas governorship, opposes state RVP, Marion H. Crank today in a runoff Democratic primary.

The winner will run in the Nov. 5 election against Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction.

Mrs. Johnson, 40 of Conway, who is the mother of three sons, is in the first political race of her own but she did campaign for her husband, Jim, two years ago.

Mrs. Johnson's husband lost the governorship election by 50,000 votes to Rockefeller in 1966 and placed second two weeks ago in a four-man race in which Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., won renomination without a runoff.

Johnson is a segregationist and his wife shares his views on racial issues. When asked if she, too, is a segregationist, she replied: "Aren't we all?"

Today's runoff was made necessary when no one received a majority in the primary two weeks ago. Crank, 53, of Foreman, who is completing his 18th year in the legislature, led the primary field with 107,000 votes. Mrs. Johnson got 86,000.

White Inmates Attack Negroes in N.Y. Jail

NEW YORK (AP) — A racial attack in the city's jail on Rikers Island has led to the indictment of 23 white inmates on charges of assault and possession of weapons.

The indictments, made public Monday, charged that about 80 whites attacked six Negroes on the night of July 9.

The attack allegedly occurred after the six Negroes moved a picnic table into a recreation area that the white prisoners had designated for whites only, and the Negroes sat down at the table to watch white prisoners play handball.

The six Negroes allegedly were attacked by white prisoners armed with chair legs, bent tin cans, mop handles, chains and knives made from filed-down spoons.

The indictments and the attack were discussed at a joint news conference by Bronx Dist. Atty. Isidore Dollinger, his chief assistant, Burton E. Roberts, and City Correction Commissioner George F. McGrath.

Roberts said one of the victims of the attack, a star pitcher for the jail's baseball team, still is "in a comatose state" in the prison ward of Bellevue Hospital. "His chances of recovery are absolutely nil," Roberts said, "and at best the doctors say he will always be a vegetable."

Roberts praised McGrath for reporting the attack and insisting on prosecution. "This kind of thing happens in institutions all the time, but they usually are swept under the rug," Roberts said.

Ground Tests Start on Apollo Spaceship

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Ground testing begins today on the Apollo spaceship that will fly aboard the first manned Saturn 5 super rocket in January.

The cone-shaped moonship arrived at Cape Kennedy Monday after a cross-country airplane trip from the plant of its prime contractor, North American Rockwell Corp., at Downey, Calif.

Scheduled to ride the spaceship on an earth-orbital mission in January are Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart, a civilian astronaut. Their flight, named Apollo 8, will be the first manned mission aboard a 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket, the type of booster which is to hurl three astronauts to the moon late next year.

In late October or early November of this year, three other astronauts—Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham, a civilian—are scheduled to make America's first three-man space flight. They will be launched by a Saturn 1 rocket, however, forerunner of the larger Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon booster.

The Apollo 8 flight plan includes a space walk by Schweickart outside the Apollo capsule and the first manned test of a lunar module.

first two, so why should he lie about the third?" a detective said.

After listening to tape recordings of the caller's conversations, Fort Lauderdale police issued a public warning that the man was "mentally disturbed" and "may attempt to take more lives."

Transcripts of the taped conversations with Officer James Rice included:

Caller: Sir, I'd like to report a murder.

Rice: A what?

Caller: Murder.

Rice: A murder?

Caller: I just killed three people.

Rice: Just killed three people?

Caller: Right.

Rice: Are you serious?

Caller: I'm serious. Please catch me, please.

Rice: Where are you?

Caller: Please, I ju... Please.

Rice: Where are you son?

Caller: I'm gonna kill 'em tonight, too, please.

Rice: Where are you?

Disconnect.

The directions to the bodies came in a second call 12 minutes later.

Broward County Deputy Harold Lamore said the caller told him he was telephoning from a service station on U.S. 1 and then broke off the conversation with: "Hurry up, please."

The caller was gone when officers arrived.

Police officials said "we do not want to alarm the public," and added they thought the warning necessary because the caller "has indicated that he may attempt to take more lives."

Police said it had not been determined if a third person was with Mrs. Clark and her daughter or why they came to the area.

Records in Atlanta, Ga., showed that Mrs. Clark formerly lived at 1767 N. Decatur Road for 11 days beginning May 14 and had been employed as a trainee at Emory University's psychological center in Atlanta. A spokesman at the center said Mrs. Clark left no forwarding address.

Police listed the address of her mother, Mrs. Mary Ammons, in Clarkston.

Sky Object Sets Fire to Oil Vessel

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An object from the sky hit a 175-foot oil survey vessel, the Pacific Seal, setting a fire Monday night that could be seen on shore 15 miles away.

At the time Sidewinder air-to-air missiles were being fired at flare targets by a Navy fleet squadron in the sea test range nearby.

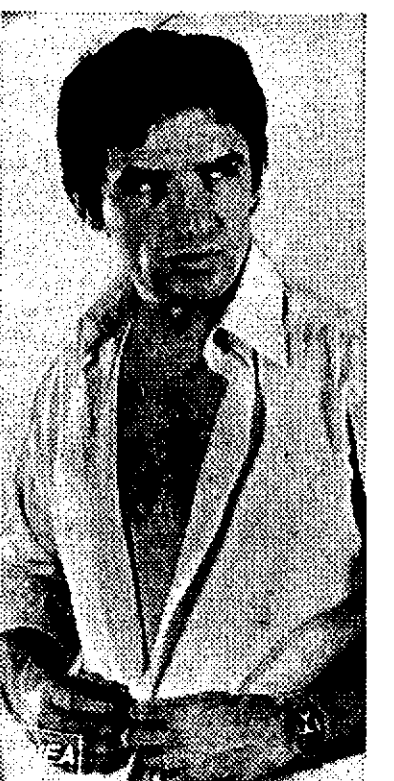

Three members of the 18-man crew were injured, two reportedly seriously. They were flown by helicopter to Pt. Mugu Naval Air Station.

Cmdr. Gordon Frey, spokesman at Pt. Mugu, said the cause of the explosion was not determined immediately "but we did have aircraft in the area," he said.

The object penetrated three steel structures in the vessel owned by Fagout Boats, Inc., of Galveston, Tex., and under charter to Vigicon Co., Houston, Tex.

A Coast Guard cutter, Cape Hatteras, was dispatched from Santa Barbara harbor to the ship still afloat five miles south of Santa Rosa Island.

The Navy said a board of inquiry would be appointed.

More Bloody Student Riots in Uruguay

By ISAAC A. LEVI
Associated Press Writer
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Uruguay's capital appeared certain today to have more bloody student riots as public opposition to President Jorge Pacheco Areco's tough policies steadily increased.

A score of students, policemen and bystanders were in hospitals with bullet wounds or other injuries suffered in daily violence that began last Friday with a police raid on the University of Uruguay.

Censorship-minded officials kept the exact number of casualties secret. Nor would police say how many demonstrators have been arrested, but there have been more than a dozen.

Although the invasion of the traditionally inviolate university campus was the immediate cause of the student demonstrations, they also are protesting conditions which have drastically reduced public backing for the president: Runaway inflation, the rising cost of living, suspension of constitutional guarantees, press censorship, drafting of striking government employees into the armed forces, and alleged police brutality, official mismanagement and corruption in high government circles.

An opinion poll ran 77 per cent in favor of Pacheco when he suspended constitutional guarantees on June 13 and started cracking down on rising student and labor agitation. The same pollsters reported last week president, with 45 per cent in favor of a return to full constitutional government. The rest refused to answer.

The long festering crisis was impelled toward a showdown by the kidnapping last week of Ulises Pereira Reverbel, the head of the state telephone and electric power monopoly and the chief advocate among Pacheco's advisers of the hardline the president has taken.

The kidnappers said they were members of the National Liberation Front, a pro-Peking group about which little is known. They held Pereira "hostage" for five days in what many considered was an attempt to touch off rebellion and to prove that the government had lost its hold on the country.

The police struck back with the raid on the university, long considered a hotbed of admirers of Fidel Castro and Mao Tse-tung.

Week-End Report
Show-Time; Dardanelle;
Judge; Funeral Man

About the time I should have been writing this column for Monday's edition I was gassing up the station wagon at Malvern, as L. Carter Johnson and I headed home from a jam-packed week-end.

We trailed the boat to Little Rock Saturday for noon luncheon with Garland Bosley, co-owner of Jungkling Photographic, The Star's offset supplier; and Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Bosley took us to the Olde West Diner Theater to see an amusing comedy, "The Bachelor's Wife." This is a presentation of theater-in-the-round, as in Shakespeare's day, with the mobile stage thrusting out into the audience and the actors performing without scenery or music. It's startling and effective, and I'll discuss it in detail in a later column.

Our main purpose in going to Little Rock was to pick up the Bosleys for a Sunday cruise on Dardanelle Lake at Russellville, part of the Arkansas River barge navigation project now nearing completion. It was a windy day, Mrs. Bosley canceled, we replaced her with Bosley's brother Gary, also of Little Rock, and launched from Dardanelle State Park ramp at 2 p.m. Three hours and 40 miles later we had had enough pounding from rough water, pulled the boat out and returned to Little Rock for the night.

Dardanelle is a major lake, and there is a major marina at the state park on the Russellville side, but the launching ramp is a one-car affair, about like the 12-foot ramp at Saratoga Landing on Millwood Lake. The only reason we didn't encounter a long delay was that the threatening weather canceled out most people's boating plans.

It wasn't until Johnson and I got back to Hope and opened our mail that I remembered Monday was my birthday. I didn't feel 69 while battling the wild water Sunday. But greeting cards from Citizens National and First National Banks, and a telephone call from Roy Anderson, reminded me.

Johnson's mail turned up a postcard from Circuit Judge Royce Weisenberger, who was on tour with Mrs. Weisenberger. The postmark was Juarez, Mexico, and the card pictured a bullfight. Wrote the judge: "Wish you and Alex. were here. However, we won't be able to attend..." Johnson and I reread the message, interpreted it to be a reference to throwing the bull around the coffee-shop, and reckoned we ought to be insulted.

Vacation-time is approaching the end for The Star's staff, and the most recent returnee is George (Boots) Smith, Jr., No. 3 pressman. Today he recalled his apprentice days under George W. Ware at the Fruit & Branch Experiment Station. There was a fellow worker who found funerals fascinating. Always he was asking for an afternoon off to attend some funeral. One day Mr. Ware asked him, "Who's the man they're burying?" "Sorry," replied the Experiment Station hand, "but I didn't catch his name..."

Minor Wrecks Investigated

Two minor accidents were investigated by police yesterday. On West Third Street cars driven by Mrs. Odell Luck of Hope and Joanne M. McConnell of Buffalo, N.J., collided with minor damage resulting, according to City Officer Long.

On Highway 67 and Laurel three cars bumped together but there too was little damage and no injuries. Cars involved were driven by John E. Fuller, Searcy; Herbert W. Yates, North Little Rock; and James F. Shown of Calif. No charges were filed by Officer Jesse Brown and Richard Rowe.

Pays Off Debts of Parents

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — An Omaha clothing firm received a check for $246.40 Monday from a Texas man who said in a letter he wanted to pay off some debts of his late parents. The man said he found a bill for $70 dated in October 1926, from Nebraska Clothing and said he wanted to pay the amount, plus 6 per cent interest over the years, he figured the total at $246.40.

Girl Slayer Begg Police to Catch Him

By DENNIS FRIEL
Associated Press Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Warning their quarry may kill again, police today hunted for a man who directed them by telephone to the body of a young girl and her wounded mother, and then begged "Please catch me, please."

Acting on telephone calls from a man who said, "I've murdered three people," police Monday located the body of an 11-year-old girl and her critically wounded mother.

The caller told police if they wanted to find his victims' bodies to "go down to the airport and then there's one in the water and there's one on a side street."

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga., was found slumped over the wheel of a car parked at the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport. She was bleeding from five bullet wounds in her head and neck. She was reported in critical condition.

Motorists discovered the body of her daughter, Marilyn, at the edge of a side road four miles away in Hollywood. The girl, clad in the bottom half of a two-piece bathing suit and a cotton blouse, had been shot twice in the head.

A search of waterways for a third victim continued today.

Crime, Civil Disorders Sure to Get the Top Billing in Campaigns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A top advisor to Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon says crime and civil disorders — issues Nixon aides consider potentially troublesome — will get top billing in the campaign.

Aldes said Monday the issues are crucial and a difficulty will be to stress law and order without appearing insensitive to slum problems or overshadowing Nixon's proposals for easing them.

Nixon has said order and civil rights progress must go hand in hand.

The candidate's proposed program of "black capitalism" to offer Negroes "a piece of the action" of American enterprise is attracting interest in the Negro community, said Charles S. Rhynes, chairman of United Citizens for Nixon.

Nixon's running mate, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, said in San Francisco, meanwhile, that violence and disorder are not the answer to civil rights problems.

The U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary in cooperation with the U.S. Corps of Engineers, Arkansas Game & Fish Commission, Millwood Lake Improvement Association and merchants in the surrounding area will present a two day program starting at 2:00 p.m. Saturday August 17th, at Beards Bluff Landing, running through Sunday August 18th.

Boating safety in the Millwood Area has become a very serious problem and these organizations are presenting this program to alert and inform everyone of the problems of public education in boat handling.

The U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary is a volunteer civilian organization working in conjunction with the U. S. Coast Guard. The Nearest Flotilla of the Auxiliary in Arkansas are in Little Rock and Russellville, which places serious limitation on the amount of time and the number of trips to the Millwood Area.

Because of this, the program will place emphasis on the need for Public Education, the major causes of loss of life and property damage and the great need for forming a Coast Guard Auxiliary group in the Millwood Area.

At 2:00 p.m. Sunday there will be considerable discussion on forming a flotilla on Millwood Lake.

Coast Guard Auxiliary members from Little Rock will be present to answer any and all questions pertaining to boating safety. They will also have demonstrations, films and lectures pertaining to hazards of unsafe boating.

There will be free prizes awarded that have been donated

Vocational Education Is Key to Industrial Growth, Director Says

Many Enemy Killed by Allied Forces

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces sweeping the southern approaches to Saigon killed 151 Viet Cong in four battles through the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta, military spokesmen reported today.

It was the heaviest combat in the sector in a month.

American soldiers smashed into one Viet Cong battalion and killed or captured nearly a third of the enemy troops before the remaining 200 or so fled under heavy American bombardment.

Field reports said troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division and supporting aircraft killed 74 Viet Cong in the fight 21 miles south-southwest of Saigon. Fifteen Americans were reported killed and 30 wounded.

The Americans also captured 13 prisoners and 36 weapons.

After intelligence reports of about 300 Viet Cong in the area, helicopters landed more than 1,000 men of the 9th Division in an attempt to set up a cordon around the enemy force.

During the night, the fighting tapered off to sporadic gun bursts and the surviving Viet Cong slipped away. Contact was reported lost, but the U.S. infantrymen continued sweeping the battlefield.

While this fight was going on Monday, other 9th Division troops were battling about 50 Viet Cong five miles to the north. Thirty-three of the enemy were reported killed, and two Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that government troops killed another 44 Viet Cong soldiers in two fights in the same general area. Five government soldiers were killed and 22 wounded.

He spoke of "the many wonderful Negro citizens in this country who are completely disenfranchised" with militants who advocate violence.

A group of 18 Baltimore Negro leaders accused Agnew Monday of "antipathy toward black people" and said they have organized to spread his record of "inadequacies" throughout the nation.

A $5 million Nixon-Agnew effort to win Democratic and independent votes was announced today by Rhynes. He said five million workers are to be enlisted and one million already have signed up.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy urged his nondelegate supporters to stay away from the Democratic National Convention, and called Nixon's campaign promises on Vietnam and other issues "irrelevant."

Mr. Anderson served as chairman of the Cemetery Association for a number of years and at present, their daughter, Mrs. Thompson Evans Jr., is chairman and has been for a number of years.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Vocational technical training is the key to Arkansas' industrial growth, says J. C. Ruppert, State Department of Education director of industrial services.

To spur the economy of Arkansas through industry, the state, with 50 percent federal matching funds, has poured over $4 million in the last three years into vocational schools.

"There are more in the planning stage," said Ruppert. "We are thinking in terms of seven to nine additional schools to fill the geographic gaps," he said.

The northeast, northwest, southeast and western sections of the state in addition to Pulaski County need vocational technical schools, Ruppert said.

"The state board has a goal of putting vocational technical schools within reasonable commuting distance of every community," he said. Vocational training facilities attracts industry, said Ruppert.

"Several industries have located in Arkansas because of the vocational technical schools," he said. He cited the Illinois Tool Works at Pine Bluff and the Stromberg-Carlson plant at Camden as examples.

"Finding enough trained personnel is a major problem any company has," said Ruppert, "and our schools are geared to meet the industry in the area."

Ruppert pointed out, however, that there is no money for the needed additional training schools. The legislature appropriated $2.25 million for the biennial field, and the funds have been used, he said.

Ruppert explained that training a student for industry, too, is expensive. He estimated that it costs the state $1,000 per student per year. There are approximately 2,000 students expected to enroll in the state's 17 vocational schools this fall.

Vocational schools for high school graduates are the Pines at Pine Bluff, established in 1959; Westark Junior College technical division at Fort Smith, and Petit Jean at Morrilton, 1963; Arkansas Valley at Ozark, Colton Boll at Burdette and Foothills at Searcy, 1966; Delta at Marked Tree, Oil Belt at El Dorado, Red River at Hope and Twin Lakes at Harrison, 1967; and Crowley's Ridge at Forrest City, Phillips County Community College at Helena and Southwest Institute at Camden, 1968.

Jury Probing Racial Disorders That Began Friday in Little Rock

AP News Digest

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley today refused to issue a restraining order to halt the Pulaski County Grand Jury investigation of racial disorders in Little Rock during the week-end.

The jury began its probe Monday.

While Henley declined to issue an order today, he set Sept. 4 as a date for a hearing in the case, which stems from a suit filed Monday by 13 Negroes.

The suit contends the jury does not include fair representation of Negroes. Henley noted that the composition of the jury was such that it might seriously endanger the validity of any indictments the grand jury might choose to issue.

The 16-member grand jury has only one Negro member, and, Henley said, has never had more than one Negro member.

Watts is generally quiet after the flare-up of racial violence.

Negro leaders seek the withdrawal of heavy police patrols.

Final Rites for Victim of Accident

Funeral services for the Rev. William Calvin Creamer, 24, Texarkana, one of three killed in a collision near McNab Sunday night, were held today at Texarkana.

He is survived by his wife, Linda; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Creamer of Texarkana, two sisters, Mrs. Marilyn Waggoner of Texarkana and Mrs. Cherry Mauk of Houston.

Also killed in the accident were James Stagers of McNab and Janet Conway 23, of Fulton. No funeral arrangements have been announced for them.

Mrs. Creamer appeared not to be as badly injured as feared. She sustained facial injuries and lacerations of the legs. She is in a Texarkana hospital.

Passengers in the Stagers car were brought to a Hope Hospital. They are Dorothy Hall, 20, of Fulton who suffered a critical head injury; her two children, Donald, 2, and Myra Hall, 1, who have been released and Raymond Stagers who suffered facial injuries.
